c). As stated in Answer to Point (b) above , out of the 1184 candidates who were offered employment, only 679 joined, leaving 487 candidates who did not join .The joining offer closes automatically after 15 days. Therefore, if the candidate does not join within that period, the offer is closed for them. However, the candidate goes back into the common pool after a cooling off period of one month. The candidate can be selected again for a suitable post if they figure in the merit list generated as per the scoring criteria outlined in the Deployment of Contractual Personnel policy. However, the time period for reselection depends on the next suitable opening for the candidates and their scores in the merit list.
